Prospects for Canal Settlement Expected 11 Die as Bomber Crashes After Takeoff

Navy Craft Explodes In South 'Ball of Fire,' Witness Relates

Chincoteague, Va., April 2 (AP)—A Navy Neptune bomber "exploded in a great ball of fire" shortly after takeoff today and carried its 11 crewmen to death in a flaming crash on Virginia's eastern shore.

The twin-engine long range aircraft ran into trouble a minute after it left the strip at the Chincoteague Naval Air Station. There was a sputtering noise, a witness reported, when the plane was only a couple of hundred feet in the air then a window-rattling blast and the plunge to earth in a big plume of smoke.

Slams Into Field
It slammed into a plowed field on the farm of Dennis Hurley, two miles south of the air station which lies on Virginia's outer banks along the Atlantic Ocean near the Maryland line.

The navy said the propeller driven aircraft had taken off at 6:45 a. m. for Cherry Point, N. C. The 11 occupants had no opportunity to jump from the falling craft at such a low altitude. All apparently were buried in the burning fuselage in the 10-foot hole it made in the sandy soil.

Sees Shoe, Foot
Earl W. Darby, who runs a general store in the small community of Atlantic, was one of the first on the scene. He described the main explosion as "a great ball of fire."

"I jumped in my pickup truck and drove to the field where it came down," he said.
"All I could find was a man's shoe and a man's foot."

Darby said he saw the plane shortly after the takeoff. It was headed south and appeared to be not over 200 or 300 feet in the air when it turned back toward the base.

Buildings Jarred
He said there was a "backfiring noise" as the plane flew back over Atlantic and suddenly it exploded.

The blast jarred buildings in the town.

Darby said when he arrived at the crash site he cautioned Hurley and a couple of others just arriving not to go near the plane because it might explode again. He said there was another small explosion in one of the wings.

Minutes later fire trucks and rescue teams from the air station arrived.

Burns Three Hours
The storekeeper said he saw no other signs of bodies and figured most of them were in the main fuselage. The wreckage burned for three hours after the crash.

Virginia state police said ambulances were removing the bodies from the wreckage.

The Navy withheld identification of the victims until their next of kin could be notified.

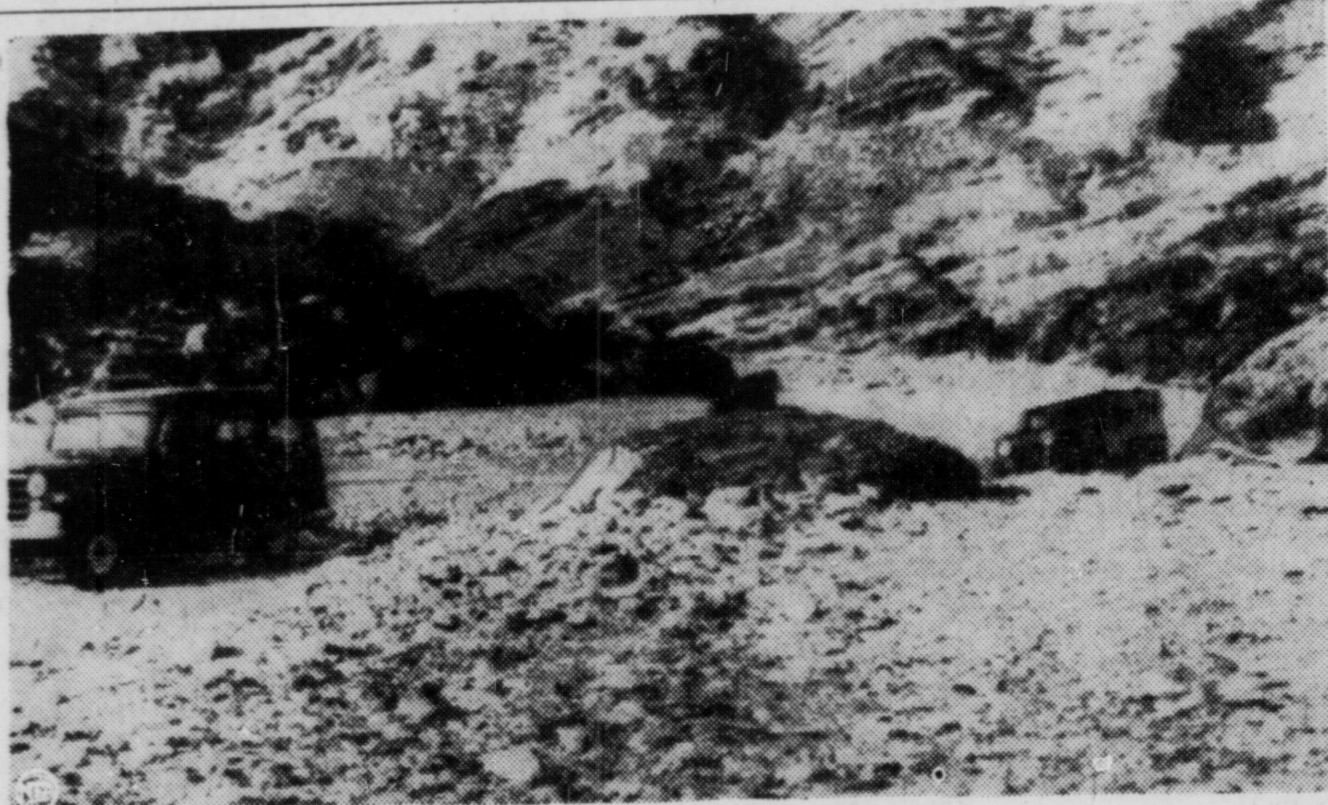

Trading Stamps Face Crack Down
Washington, April 2 (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) may crack down this month on several of the nation's biggest trading stamp companies, it was learned today.

Proposed complaints alleging violation of one or more laws have been drafted, government officials said. These are awaiting action by the five-man commission which polices business practices.

$600 Million Business
If issued, the charges will bring new headaches to a booming 600 million dollar business which already is fighting restrictive legislation in several states—with ardent help from housewives.

The FTC investigation however is not aimed at the basic legality of savings stamps or their status as a national institution which has made stamp-savers of perhaps half of all American families.

Charges Not Divulged

Saugerties Mayor Lists Department Head Appointees

Commissioners for the six departments of the Saugerties village administration were appointed by Mayor George P. Holmes at the annual organizational meeting held Monday night in the trustees rooms of Saugerties Municipal building.

Cornelius Cox received the all important post of Police Commissioner. Others appointed were Elton L. Johnson, fire commissioner; Frank Short, Municipal building and finance; Sheldon Longendyke, street department; Roy S. Helmsmortel, sewer and sewerage disposal and David Cunningham, parks and playgrounds. Trustee Short was named acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Holmes.

Holdovers Shifted
Trustee Helmsmortel, a holdover from the previous administration served as street commissioner under former Mayor Arthur F. Simmons. Trustee Cunningham also a member of the Simmons administration formerly held the post of sewer commissioner. All other posts were filled by newly elected trustees, members of the Independent Party which swept (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4)

Elkin Win Challenged Says Ellenville Man Has No Property

Election March 19 of the only Republican trustee on the Ellenville village board has been challenged on the grounds that he does not own property in the village.

He is Jerome Z. Elkin of Channe Master who received 826 votes in the recent election—the highest number cast for a trustee candidate.

The law requires that a candidate own property within the political unit in which he is seeking election, it is reported.

The election of Mr. Elkin has been questioned by Harry Thayer, editor of the Ellenville Press and a Democratic member of the village board.

O'Leary Appointments Out Rosendale Village Has GOP Officials

Although the village of Rosendale elected a Democratic mayor at the recent election, it appears as though the village board will be controlled by representatives of the Republican party.

At the organizational meeting last evening Mayor Catherine O'Leary, Ulster county's first lady mayor, proposed a slate of appointments only to be met by a Republican proposed slate which was elected.

Continues in Office
The slate proposed and elected is the same slate which had been in office prior to the recent election. No vote was taken on the slate proposed by Mayor O'Leary.

Named for the next two years was: Shirley Williams, clerk; Alice Brown, treasurer and Charles Gaffney, village attorney.

There was no appointment made for village assessor, one year; building inspector; registrar of vital statistics or auxiliary police justice.

Krom Leans to GOP
Present at the meeting held in the village firehall was Mayor Catherine O'Leary and Trustees Harold Schoonmaker, who was elected last year on the Independent ticket but who has been an enrolled Republican and Harold Krom, who was elected for two years at the recent election. Krom ran on the Independent ticket and had the endorsement of the Democrats. At last evening's meeting he voted with his fellow trustee for the Republican slate.

Mayor Catherine O'Leary proposed a slate as follows: Clerk, Mrs. Edna May Atkins. Treasurer, Joseph Bianco. Attorney William Curran. For water commissioner and dump custodian, Dominick Alfano, who mayor O'Leary said she would be satisfied with as re-appointment; George Bockelmann, police officer and Harold Krom as acting mayor.

Mr. Thayer told The Freeman today that the board had recessed its organizational meeting Monday night until this evening at which time it will consider the question.

It is reported that Mr. Elkin claims to have in his possession a deed to a certain piece of property in the village but that he failed to file it with the Ulster county clerk. He will reportedly file it today.

The possibility exists that the board may recognize Mr. Elkin as a member—but as an appointee of the board. If seated tonight he would be required to run as a candidate next year, it is reported.

Colorado, Area Hit by New Snow 2 Die, Highways, Schools Closed

Denver, April 2 (AP)—Two persons were dead, highways closed and rural school sessions suspended today as a giant spring storm dumped up to a foot of snow on eastern Colorado and southern Wyoming.

The dead were victims of traffic accidents. Gerald A. Bowker, 50, of Burlington, Colo., was killed last night when his car skidded into a snowplow on a snow-choked mountain highway west of here. Howard C. Douglas, 65, was struck and killed by a car as he crossed a Denver street in the blinding snow.

Snow is Heavier
The storm moved in just 10 days after blizzards whipped the eastern Colorado plains, killing thousands of cattle and snarling transportation. Unlike the earlier blizzard, today's snow was heavier in water content and a little drifting was reported during the morning.

Ranchers and city dwellers braced themselves for new onslaughts as the weather bureau predicted an additional six inches in Denver and along the east slopes of the Rockies by tonight.

Heaviest snowfall on the plains at mid-morning was a foot at Lander, Wyo., and Colorado Springs.

Air Traffic Halted
Nine inches of snow at Denver crippled transportation and tree limbs plunged into the streets under the weight of the heavy snow. Airline traffic was halted for six hours until snowplows cleared runways at the Municipal Airport.

Transcontinental bus schedules were slow, as much as three hours in southern Wyoming. The storm knocked out electric power for an hour at Fort Morgan, in northeastern Colorado, and a fire department (Continued on Page 11, Col. 3)

Army Promotion Given to Zwicker

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Ralph W. Zwicker is wearing the two stars of an army major general—symbols of a Senate-approved promotion which was bitterly fought by an old foe, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Shortly after the Senate voted 70-2 yesterday to advance Zwicker from brigadier general, Secretary of the Army Brucker pinned the new insignia on Zwicker's uniform. The general will take command of the 24th Infantry Division in Korea.

Sen. Malone (R-Nev.) and McCarthy were the only senators voting against the promotion.

Duel Over Lanza Parole Opens Republicans Call Case 'Scandalous'

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—"Scandal" says Republican leaders about the Lanza parole case, in which an appointee of Democratic Gov. Harriman has resigned under fire.

"Politics" retorts the Harriman camp about GOP legislative leaders' participation in the controversy. Joseph (Socks) Lanza, 57, a convicted extortionist, was arrested in February as a parole violator and released on orders of James R. Stone, a veteran parole division employee who had been appointed to the board by Harriman.

Resigns His Post
Stone resigned Saturday in the face of one investigation by the Republican-controlled "watchdog" committee of the Legislature and a second by Arthur Reuter, Harriman's acting state investigation commissioner.

Yesterday, Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck issued a statement that referred to "...The surreptitious freeing of the convicted extortionist...The equally mysterious midnight resignation...All the earmarks of a scandalous situation."

They called upon the Watchdog Committee to determine whether the Parole Board had come under political domination. The four remaining members include three appointed by former Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. The fourth is a Harriman appointee.

More Voice For Users Dulles Plea Commitment With Chiang Is Denied

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today he should know in the next 24 to 48 hours whether there is any serious prospect for a satisfactory settlement with Egypt on the operation of the Suez Canal.

Dulles told a news conference he thinks the nations which use the canal should have a much greater voice in its operation than is provided in proposals made by Egypt last week.

Proposal to Cairo
He also is seeking in counter proposals to Cairo to get Egypt committed firmly on any Suez Canal plan it may agree to.

The U. S. reply to Egypt's proposals went to Cairo Sunday. Dulles made clear that as of today he does not know whether the Egyptians will accept any of the changes he suggested or whether there is any chance of successful negotiations with Egypt.

Dulles also told his news conference:

Backs Israelis
1. The United States fully supports Israel's right to send ships through the Suez Canal and also to move them through the Gulf of Aqaba. He said he had no official word that Israel might be planning to send a test ship into the Suez.

2. The United States has never made any commitment, explicit or implied that it would defend the Nationalist Chinese islands of Quemoy and Matsu beyond the commitment approved by Congress, two years ago. A Formosa defense resolution provided those islands could be defended if their defense was related to the defense of Formosa itself.

Discussed in Book
This subject came up because a new biography of Dulles says that President Eisenhower personally assured Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek that the United States would fight if necessary to keep Quemoy and Matsu out of Red China's hands.

Dulles said he would not discuss Eisenhower's extensive personal correspondence but that he was quite sure there was no U. S. commitment regarding Quemoy and Matsu beyond that in the congressional resolution.

Denies Show Down
3. It is not true that the United States canceled its offer to help Egypt build the Answan Dam in order to force a show down with the Soviet Union in the Middle East. The action was taken, for a number of reasons, Dulles said.

The House Appropriations Committee had forbidden use of foreign aid funds for the dam.

The Dulles biography by John Robinson Beal of Time Magazine asserted the Answan Dam cancellation was a "major gambit" by Dulles in the cold war with Russia.

Dulles, rejecting this explanation, said not only had funds been denied. There was also, he said, a strong feeling that the burden (Continued on Page 9, Col. 2)

More Pay; Fewer Hours Harriman Inks Bills With Reservation

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Gov. Harriman has signed Republican bills that increase the salaries of state workers and reduce from 44 to 42 hours the work week of institutional employees, it was announced today.

In approving the two measures, the Democratic governor maintained the steps would cost more than 21-million-dollars, instead of the $19,400,000 the GOP appropriated.

He called the pay bill "inequitable and unfair" to the majority of the state's 80,000 workers because of the manner in which it distributes the salary increases.

Harriman was vacationing at Hobe Sound, Fla. His office said he signed the bills on Saturday. They took effect with his signature.

The governor said in a memorandum that he signed the pay measure because he did not want to deny the increases. He said state employees deserved more pay.

However, he continued, "the plan shows no awareness of, or callous disregard for, the needs of 90 per cent of the state's employees who now receive less than $6,000 per year."

Harriman said more than half of the state's employees would receive pay increases of $120 or less a year, while four per cent in the highest pay brackets would (Continued on Page 9, Col. 1)

Democrats Make Michigan Gains

Detroit, April 2 (AP)—Michigan Democrats and their leader, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, surged to new heights in state political power with a sweep of all 10 offices at stake in yesterday's spring election.

The big plums in a record turnout of voters were the offices of state highway commissioner and state superintendent of public instruction.

Their capture gave Democrats the last two Republican-held elective posts in the state government's executive branch. It marked the first time they controlled all eight since the setup was originated in 1921.

"The people have rebuked lack of courage and vision in education and highways and have clearly voiced their demand for vigorous and far-sighted action," said Williams, who last November was elected to an unprecedented fifth term as governor.

The vote appeared likely to total 1,100,000 eclipsing the previous high for a spring election of 1,042,000 in 1955.

The highway post was won by John C. Mackie, 35, Flint supervisor, and the school superintendent job by Lynn M. Bartlett, 52, Grosse Pointe school administrator.

Mackie beat George M. Foster, chief deputy highway commissioner, rolling up a lead of 559,083 to 501,339 with only 267 of 5,181 precincts unreported.

Bartlett defeated Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan College at Marquette, by 549,557 to 480,133, with 265 precincts out.

Lift of Travel Ban Regarded Timely

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector, April 2 (AP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion today welcomed as timely the U. S. government's decision to lift its ban on American travel to Israel.

In a special statement, he said: "I hope many Americans will come to the land of the Bible, which is so rich in history."

Visitors will find "inspiration in this country from its ancient sites, its beauty, its new enterprises and from the dedication of youth," he said.

The first Americans to return to Israel will be technical experts, their staff and members of embassy officials' families, a government spokesman said.

The spokesman expressed the hope the number of American tourists will be the same this year as in 1955, when the total was 22,000.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 2 (AP)—The stock market pushed timidly higher in a slightly more active market in the early afternoon today.

Steels, oils and metals led the mild advance in the industrial section. Ralls also worked higher but the utilities marked time, showing little price change.

Gains throughout the market were limited mainly to fractions although a few stocks jumped more than a point. Scattered small losses also appeared.

Chemicals, airlines, farm equipments and aircraft manufacturers were mixed.

International oils firmed on a definite indication of easing of tension in the Middle East.

The copper issues enjoyed a run up early and held onto a good part of their advance, reflecting a boost in the price custom smelters get for the metal.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 39 cents at $174.40 with the industrials up 57 cents, the rails up 30 cents and the utilities unchanged.

On the American Stock Exchange stocks were mixed in moderately active trading.

Corporate bonds edged lower in quiet dealings.

U. S. government bonds moved slightly higher.

Cases in Ulster County Court Are Up Before Bruhn

Due to a continuation of a trial in Supreme Court the April term of County Court will not get under way with jury matters until next Tuesday at 10 o'clock. Jurors were excused until that time when an extra panel of 20 trial jurors will report.

However, County Judge Louis G. Bruhn will hold a term of court Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. to assign counsel and dispose of matters not requiring a jury.

Trial of a grand larceny, first degree charge against Donald Putnam, 39, former proprietor of Putnam Homes, Route 9-W just north of Kingston, will be moved on Tuesday, April 9, when selection of a jury will begin. It is alleged Putnam issued fraudulent checks.

Whether the first degree murder charge against Franklin Delano Cleaver, Downsville, will be moved for trial at this term will be determined next Tuesday.

Francis X. Tucker, who with Robert Ortale appears for Cleaver, asked the court to hold the matter until that time when it will be determined whether the case will be tried at this time.

Cleaver is charged with having shot and killed his wife, Dixie May Cleaver, 20, of 298 Clinton avenue, as she sat in a car on central Broadway, Kingston, last November 1. They had been separated for a time and Cleaver was living with his folks in Downsville.

Asks Leniency
David S. Harkavy, Ellenville, charged with violation of Section 1293-b, a misdemeanor growing out of alleged irregularities in accounting at a feed business he formerly operated in Ellenville, entered a plea of guilty as charged. Benjamin Lonsstein appeared for Harkavy and asked for leniency. He said Harkavy had never been in difficulty before, had been a very reputable citizen of the village for many years but had met with adversity and was now financially broke.

Judge Bruhn imposed a six months jail sentence but suspended execution of sentence during good behavior.

A grand larceny, first degree, against Leonard A. Harrison, 47, was moved over to April 15. Harrison is charged with having accepted deposits from Ellenville residents on a promise to erect homes under F.H.A. terms.

It later developed the development had never been approved by F.H.A. loans. Jacob A. A. of Monticello appears for defendant. The case was once before tried and a disagreement resulted.

Narcotics Case
The charge of selling narcotics against Dr. William H. Bockman, Ellenville, will be moved again on April 15.

Several other cases on the criminal calendar were also moved over to April 9 or 15.

Six local young men were arraigned on a charge of arson, third degree, arising out of a probe following several fires in the downtown areas. They were James P. Gallo, Jr., 20, East Kingston; Thomas Alecia, 18, 167 North street; Peter Esposito, Jr., 17, 49 Lindsley avenue; Ronald Frangello, 19, 189 North street; Thomas Sottile, 22, 19 Cordis street, all represented by Charles Saccaman, and Kenneth Tubby, Jr., 16, of 219 Delaware avenue, represented by Hubert Richter. It is alleged that between October 5, 1956, and February 4, 1957, several suspicious fires occurred in Kingston Point area. Most of the young men involved had served as volunteer firemen in Cordis Hose Company. All entered pleas of innocent and counsel was granted 20 days for motions. Bail was continued. Motions to have some of the cases disposed of under the Youthful Offender Law were reserved until Wednesday at 9:30 a. m.

Edward J. Calhoun, 20, Shokan, and Donald L. Osterhoudt, 18, of 27 Oak street, entered pleas of innocent to a charge of grand larceny, first degree, for the alleged theft of a car of Calvin E. Cutler of 180 Washington avenue on February 10, last. Osterhoudt was represented by John Gotelli, who moved for disposition under the Youthful Offender Law. Judge Bruhn reserved decision until Wednesday. Calhoun will have counsel assigned on Wednesday.

Lester C. Jansen, 18, and Samuel Joseph Wood Jr., 16, formerly of Kingston but who said they had no permanent address, were charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry at the Kaslich billiard rooms on Wall street on February 8. They will have counsel assigned Wednesday, meanwhile a plea of innocent was entered.

Among the arraignments were: The People vs. Edwin W. Houghton, charged with assault, second degree, alleged to have been committed December 26, 1956, three counts, and also violation of Section 1851 of the Penal Law, alleged to have been committed December 26, 1956, two counts. A plea of innocent was entered. Hubert Richter appeared as counsel. The charge involves an alleged threat to a police officer with a gun. Houghton resides at 22 Post street, Kingston. Bail was continued and 20 days granted for motions.

The People vs. Frederick S. Bollen, leaving the scene of an accident on October 17, last, and violation of Section 1851 of the Penal Law. Norman Kellar appeared for defendant and a plea of innocent was entered, bail continued.

The People vs. Robert E. Hoff, burglary, third degree and unlawful entry, alleged to have taken place September 15, 1956. A charge of petit larceny was also made. Charles Saccaman appeared for defendant and a plea of innocent was entered, 20 days granted for motions and bail was continued.

The People vs. Patrick Burke, two indictments charging burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, one on October 13 and one on January 30. Francis Martocci appeared for defendant and a plea of innocent was entered, 20 days granted for motions and bail continued.

The People vs. Harry Silverman, forgery, second degree, alleged to have taken place on several occasions from November 23, 1956 to January 1, 1957. Joseph Campbell appeared for defendant. A plea of innocent was entered, bail continued and 20 days granted for motions.

The People vs. Charles H. Williams, Jr., burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, alleged to have been committed December 8, 1956. A plea of innocent was entered and he will be dealt with under the Youthful Offender Law.

The People vs. George H. Dickinson, burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, alleged to have been committed during December and January. There were six counts to the bill. Charles Saccaman appeared and a plea of innocent was entered, 20 days for motions granted and bail was continued.

The People vs. W. Kiely, grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been committed January 15

Mother Is Under Treatment After Killing Children

Washington, Ind., April 2 (AP)—A 34-year-old woman who was under treatment for mental depression killed her two children, one a baby, last night and then tried to end her own life, authorities said.

The children's father, Paul Shrock, also 34, found the bodies of the children, both girls, at 11:15 p. m. when he returned from his work as an orderly at the Davies County Hospital.

Both were in their beds. The baby, Marilyn, 3½ months, was smothered with a pillow. Brenda Arlene, 7, was strangled with a small piece of rope.

Gives Self Up
The mother, Dorcas Shrock, had left her husband a note. At midnight, she walked into the police station and said she had killed her children.

Coroner H. O. Norton said Mrs. Shrock evidently had gone temporarily insane. He said the killings took place about 8 p. m. He said it appeared Mrs. Shrock had tried to hang herself in a doorway in the home but the rope broke.

Mrs. Shrock was taken to the county hospital under police guard and given sedatives. No charges were placed immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. Shrock operated a small grocery in the west part of the city. Neighbors said they were a very quiet and respected couple.

Hand Burned Off Youth Tortured Before Slaying

Omaha, April 2 (AP)—A teenage boy's mutilated body was tossed on a country road near here early today and sheriff's deputies said the youth apparently was tortured before he was slain.

His right hand had been burned off, apparently with an acetylene torch, acting Douglas County Coroner George Sullivan said.

The victim was identified by Chief Deputy Sheriff Jack Knudtson as Donald Marfisi, 16, of Omaha. Knudtson said the boy had a minor police record.

The body was found near the Douglas county hospital annex about 10 miles west of Omaha.

Burns on Feet
Knudtson said investigators were making some headway and there was no immediate explanation of where or why the youth was tortured and killed.

Officers said that young Marfisi has been burned on the feet as well as on the arm.

His body was clad in blue jeans, a yellow T-shirt and a lightweight undershirt.

Former Gangster, Evangelist in Prayer
New York, April 2 (AP)—Mickey Cohen, an ex-gangster turned nurseryman, prayed and read the Bible yesterday with evangelist Billy Graham.

"I'm sincerely interested in anything that's the correct thing in life," said Cohen.

Graham said he believes Cohen is "sincerely interested in spiritual things and leading a new life."

The two met in Cohen's hotel suite.

Cohen was once a reputed gambling czar in Los Angeles. The pudgy ex-convict was also a frequent but elusive target for gang violence. He was shot at 10 times and bombed once.

He spent four years in prison for evading $150,000 in federal income taxes.

United States entrants, with a total of 56 winners, have won the largest number of Nobel prizes.

General Says Reds Have Striking Power

Colorado Springs, Colo., April 2 (AP)—Nuclear or thermo-nuclear weapons would be used by the Soviet Union in any attack against the United States, Maj. Gen. M. S. Carter, chief of staff of the Continental Air Defense Command, said last night.

Carter made the statement in an address to the ninth annual convention of the Newspaper Personnel Relations Assn., which includes personnel directors, business managers and labor relations specialists in the newspaper field.

Carter said Russia has "a long range air force completely capable of launching a mass attack against this country, at a time and place—or places—of its own choosing."

"The threat is very real, and as immediate as today," he said. "We in Continental Air Defense Command, believe that in an attack launched against this country by the Soviet Union the principal weapon used would be nuclear or thermonuclear."

Carter said that "the only power in today's world, the United States need consider a threat is the Soviet Union."

Bowers, Chautauque county coroner said he would issue a certificate of accidental death. Edward was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Walsh.

Former Premier Of Romania Dies

Vienna, April 2 (AP)—The Bucharest radio today announced the death of Gheorghe Tatarescu, 65, who twice served as premier of Romania.

The broadcast gave no details. Romanian emigre circles in Paris said yesterday Tatarescu died last week in Bucharest after a long illness.

The prewar Liberal party leader served as premier from January 1934 to December 1937. Named ambassador to France in 1938, he was again chosen premier in 1939, serving until the pro-Nazis overthrew him in 1940.

After World War 2 Tatarescu was a deputy premier and foreign minister and took part in the Paris Peace Conference which wrote the Romanian Peace Treaty in 1946. He announced his retirement from public life in 1947.

He was reported detained by the Communists in 1950 and released in July 1955 without having been brought to trial. Romanians in Paris said since then he has been a member of a commission urging emigres to return home.

Asahigawa, Japan, April 2 (AP)—A 16-inch snow, the worst April storm in Japan in 68 years, has stalled transportation and isolated rural areas in central Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. Police said 19 trains and 40 buses were stalled in deep drifts.

Faces Life Term

Crown Point, Ind., April 2 (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Martin, 36, Hammond, faced life imprisonment today for persuading her son, Anthony Brewbaker, 17, to kill her third husband. The youth was sentenced to an Indiana reformatory term of 2 to 21 years after pleading guilty yesterday to a manslaughter charge. His mother pleaded guilty in criminal court to first-degree murder. They had told police they plotted the killing because Robert Martin, 32-year-old steel mill foreman, was "drunk all the time." They first blamed the Oct. 29 shooting on a hitchhiker.

UNIONS IN BECK'S SHADOW

When Teamster Boss Dave Beck took the protection of the Constitution in refusing to give a Senate committee vital information, he may have acted within his rights. But at the same time he may have forfeited whatever shreds of sympathy were left to him.

With or without his testimony, the special Senate committee studying rackets in labor and industry says it has ample evidence with which to piece out the shocking story of Beck's misuse of his union's funds.

The Internal Revenue Service is examining his financial records to determine if there are any irregularities in his income tax returns. Should there prove to be, the Constitution will not save him from prosecution.

The action and comments of top AFL-CIO leaders, including President George Meany and Vice President Walter Reuther, indicate that Beck is now beyond the pale of decency in the labor movement's upper echelons. It is clear they believe he has done severe damage to the whole cause of organized labor.

The power to oust Beck and such others as Jimmy Hoffa and Frank Brewster from office rests with the Teamsters' rank and file. Thus far there have been considerable mutterings of revolt, but also here and there some surprising complacency in the light of the disclosures.

Perhaps enough has already been told, however, to put the standing of the Teamsters Union itself in serious jeopardy—in the eyes of both labor and the public—if it does not act to clean its own house.

Senator McClellan of Arkansas, chairman of the special committee, says Beck has not properly accounted for at least $320,000. It is fair that he should give his version of his affairs—if he ever will talk. But obviously a union that does not seek and get a satisfactory accounting is bound to be suspect itself. And the same goes if the answers are unsatisfactory and it fails to demand his ouster.

Certain huge unions, the Teamsters included, are so placed that they can exercise a stranglehold on vital parts of the nation's economy. Often they are undemocratically controlled by entrenched czars, and occasionally these are allied with criminal elements. Large union treasuries may be diverted to corrupt purposes.

Neither labor's honest leadership nor its rank and file nor the nation's citizenry can tolerate such misuse of money and power. Beck stands in the limelight today. But the task at hand is bigger than "getting Beck." It is the freeing of both labor and industry from the evidently broad grip of racketeers, despoilers and underworld managers.

The "do-it-yourself" idea has apparently detoured state governments. Records show that while the total of federal grants to states was only 250 millions in 1932, it is now in the neighborhood of three and a half billion dollars.

TO CUT THE RATES

It is not uncommon to hear complaints about the high cost of automobile insurance. Pausing to figure out why these costs should be so high is less popular.

Generally speaking, auto insurance costs are as high as they are because of the appalling rate of traffic accidents. This kind of insurance, like any other, is based on past experience.

Consequently, the way to reduce automobile insurance rates is to have fewer and less serious accidents. In a sense, an individual is helpless to do anything about the matter. But just as an individual can do something about government by voting, though his vote is only one among many, so he can do his individual part in reducing accident—and insurance—rates.

Bill collectors now prefer to be called "guidance workers." There are some people, however, who will dodge guidance as skillfully as they dodge bills.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
REALISM WITH TRUTH

Recently it has fallen to my lot to see more movies than usual and more television shows at late hours and the thought has come to me that the romantic stereotypes which have been identical over the years do not portray American life as vividly or as correctly as the realistic concepts of Paddy Chayefsky whose "Marty" was as authentic as "Abie's Irish Rose," and whose forthcoming "The Bachelor Party" not only is excellent portraiture but includes the quality of depth. His characters not only live, but they discover that there are basic, unchangeable, permanent laws of life which are violated at our peril.

David Belasco used to seek realistic portrayals of romantic themes. But realism in the movies and on television has been suffocated by the need for stereotypes so that there might be a speedy identification by the viewer of the personality. A Hitchcock detective is generally detected just as in a Western, the hero sits on a white horse.

But simple, plain people are never really stereotyped, except perhaps by a direct look and an act less alike than the inhabitants of a Park Avenue tenement of the rich. The latter all take on the current fashionable mannerisms; the former fight for individuality because that is what makes the big difference in their lives. They call it personality. When they say that such and such a one has personality, they mean that despite the austere of proletarian lives, the person has achieved individuality, that the person stands out. This Paddy Chayefsky manages to convey with keener perspicacity than most writers today.

There is another point about "The Bachelor Party" that interested me sufficiently to write about it. Each generation makes its own life and accepts its own forms. For instance, when I was 16, a girl would not be found dead in the knee-length, white cotton, shapeless stockings that current teen-agers find fashionable. In those days, a high school girl wore a white mid-bloose, a full blue skirt, black stockings, neatly gartered. She would have regarded the current styles as sloppy.

These are not matters of style only; these are characteristics of the mind of the times and youth is an excellent measure of a generation because it is thus possible to project into the future. Certainly the alcoholism and abnormality of the 1920's were not without their influence upon the spiritual depression of the 1930's—a spiritual depression, the effects of which we feel today in the myriad confusions in both the public and family life of our times.

So, for one who comes from another, a more peaceful and stable generation, it is interesting to watch the struggle for identity of the younger folks who today have all sorts of advantages except the one of stability. Paddy Chayefsky catches that in "The Bachelor Party" even better than in "Marty," for he has discovered the loneliness that can exist within a crowd.

There is an inter-racial party somewhere in Greenwich Village, one of those bang-up affairs that John Kasper used to attend, the same Kasper who is now a fierce racist. At this party is a girl who says she is from Vassar and who boasts of peccadilloes like a flapper in the 1920's. She is a frightfully lonely girl who can explain everything in life by the existentialism of Sartre, except her own loneliness which she probably has no other explanation than that she is at heart a deceiver and therefore has a confusion of her own. Before she will allow herself to be kissed, she asks the young man to say that he loves her even if he does not mean it.

She really craved an ordinary married life, the kind that goes with a G.I. mortgage and two babies in three years, but she also wants to appear as though she needs four husbands and 10 lovers like a dame who is trying to make "Confidential" magazine. This character is brilliantly delineated and played. I do not remember the name of the actress, not being a movie critic, but only a viewer who buys a ticket and sits in back to the chagrin of the teen-agers who like to neck in the rear of a house. What do they want with anyone of my generation in their preserves? (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
FINANCIAL HELP FOR DOCTORS

We were speaking yesterday of the funds and scholarships available for physicians who need it in communities which need it and for postgraduate study. Aside from Foundations as Sears-Roebuck, companies such as Mead Johnson, Student American Medical Association, there are hospitals and various other nongovernmental sources of which many Communities and physicians are not aware. One loan fund in Iowa is supported by state medical society membership dues, and another by loans and contributions from individual physicians of the state. In Illinois the Illinois Agricultural Association contributes medical student loans as a means of spurring more rural practice.

Rural practice increase is the big aim. For example in Culvert City, Ky., young Dr. Carroll Taylor is in practice on a plan that helped pay his medical school tuition in return for a pledge to hang his shingle at least 20 miles from any big Kentucky city.

It began because Sears Foundation President Theodore V. Houser, the economist who heads the large store system and mail-order house, conceived of the long-term loan project as a way to solve a critical problem in physician distribution. He knew there was no doctor shortage in the nation—it was just a question of bad distribution with doctors clustering to the cities and large towns. He reasoned that if large companies such as his could show that a trek to rural and suburban areas was meeting a community need, then why could not the same idea work for medicine.

Accordingly, Houser went to the American Medical Association with a proposal to put $125,000 annually into a revolving fund for ten years. The A. M. A. trustees appointed an advisory board of leading physicians representing all parts of the United States and this board began the task of granting unsecured loans that would be used in any way by doctors to establish medical practice units. There are two chief requirements. These units must be needed by the community, and applicants must show that such a community effort to establish them in such a community.

Some loans are greater than the amount asked for but some are pared down as the foundation service is rendered to a greater number of physicians who do not get loans than to those who do. One out of four applicants so far has obtained a foundation loan but sound, helpful (and free) business management advice was given to 57 per cent of the doctors who applied. The net effect of these foundation efforts in helping physicians to help themselves has been to "seed" medical facilities far beyond the face value of the borrowed money. In its first 18 months of existence, the fund has loaned $261,000 but that amount represents the "key cash" responsible for $780,000 in new buildings, $83,000 in remodeling, and $72,000 in new equipment—a total of nearly a million dollars in improved medical facilities that otherwise might never have been created.

Local medical society executives are the key men in practically all such projects and the ones to get in touch with for information on the help available.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—When all the hoopla has subsided after Teamster tycoon Dave Beck's testimony before Sen. John L. McClellan's select committee investigating improper activities in labor and industry, Congress will have the serious business of deciding what to do about it.

The rackets probe may continue for another year or more, hitting other unions. There is only one chance for any corrective action by Congress this session.

For more than three years now the Senate has been investigating abuses in administration of union-management jointly administered welfare and pension funds. This investigation began in a Labor subcommittee under Sen. Irving Ives (R-N.Y.). It was continued in the last Congress under the chairmanship of Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.).

Both Ives and Douglas have bills before the present Congress to register and force disclosure of welfare funds. The full Senate Labor committee under Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.) has just concluded hearings on extended minimum wage coverage.

Next it has veterans' and railroad retirement legislation to handle. When they're out of the road—say in another month or so—welfare fund legislation can be taken up.

THIS TOUCHES the teamsters' union probe on one sore spot. It has been testified that George Newell, Seattle insurance broker, got $300,000 a year for handling teamster welfare funds.

As a matter of fact, the McClellan hearings grew out of the originally dug up by the Ives and Douglas committees. They uncovered enough scandal to demonstrate the need of welfare fund regulation, then quit.

Carmine Bellino, one of their ace investigators, then went to Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel for the McClellan committee, and convinced him there was still more pay dirt to be dug up in the union hills. McClellan and Kennedy, ably assisted by Bellino, took it from there.

A law requiring that welfare funds be registered, annual reports made and principal transactions disclosed is only a timid first step. Later legislation might require the regulation of all union finances, to prevent a repetition of other abuses disclosed in the teamster hearings.

IN PRESENTING his bill this year, however, Senator Douglas reported there was plenty of irregularity in the handling of welfare funds alone. He listed "embezzlement, collusion, kickbacks, mismanagement, waste, extravagance, nepotism and no criteria for sound operation."

Douglas also reported that some insurance companies, while opposing federal regulation of welfare and pension funds, charged "high commissions, excessive administrative fees, unequal treatment of beneficiaries, unscrupulous activities of brokers and agents, embezzlement of premiums, sometimes in collusion with the unions and management."

Douglas declared that management shared responsibility for many of the abuses, though his committee did not go into that very deeply.

Only about 10 per cent of the welfare and pension funds are under joint union-management administration today. The other 90 per cent are administered solely by management.

IN ALL, about 75 million American workers are now covered by health, welfare and pension plans of some sort. But 12 million workers are under plans created by union-management collective bargaining agreements, subject to union control.

Contributions to these funds are now running at about seven billion dollars a year. Health and welfare funds are collected and paid out on a current basis, without much reserve.

But pension plans have a funded reserve of nearly 26 billion dollars today. These reserves are increasing at the rate of two to three billion dollars a year.

Securities and Exchange Commission declares this is the largest single source of new equity capital in the United States today. The mere size of the fund is what invites inspection and regulation by Congress to prevent abuses such as the Senate rackets hearings are disclosing.

War Prevention Is Called The Real Victory at Suez

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 2—Who has won the "victory" in the Middle East? Is Nasser really on top—and, if he is, then why does he complain so bitterly to a group of American editors visiting Cairo that America is trying "to starve" Egypt?

The truth is there are no real victories for rulers of countries as such nowadays.

The only victory that means anything is the triumph over the passions of war.

By one means or another, whether through the groping intervention of the United Nations or through the persuasive influence of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, there is no world war going on today. Bombs are not being dropped, and civilian populations are surviving.

War Danger Remains

But resentments have not diminished. And the flames of war can be touched off if, every time one or the other of the disputants takes an arrogant course, this is followed by a counter-move which breeds further bitterness.

Lots of people in different countries today are angry about the unco-operative attitude of Nasser of Egypt. The Israelis are saying, "I told you so." The British and French echo that sentiment. Certainly Nasser is refusing to listen to reason. He is following the path that many a dictator has followed to his sorrow.

Is military force, however, the only way left to bring Nasser to his senses? The British and French say they were right in using military force last October and that America should not have stopped the invasion of the Suez nor the occupation of Egypt. The theory is that this would have given the British and French and Israelis the whip hand and that this would have solved the problems of the Middle East. But would it have done so?

Military Force Opposed

Here in Washington, where a more objective view prevails than in Europe, the attitude officially is that military force must not be used except as a last resort and only when it is clear that the Soviets have intervened with arms.

Steady pressure through the United Nations will play a helpful part. That's moral force.

The American conception of the right way to deal with Nasser is through moral and economic force. There is no thought of putting into effect punitive measures of a provocative sort. But there is every thought that Egypt can and will be isolated from the West and from her

Arab neighbors, and that Egypt will, in due time, see the error of her dictator's acts and either will change her government or change her policies.

The plans are of a long-range nature. But they spell the doom of Nasserism. The countries of the Arab world which have oil to sell may have been emotional about the Israeli-French-British action last October, but they now see that, if they want to sell oil, they must have a safe and continuous way of shipping it.

Could By-Pass Suez

If Nasser is foolish enough to stop Israeli ships from going through the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba, his action will merely accelerate the construction of more and more pipe lines to carry the oil across Asia Minor to the Mediterranean, thus by-passing the Suez Canal altogether.

The canal will always have a limited use. Small ships will want to traverse it. But for the big traffic—the kind that could produce the revenues to enable Egypt to finance many of her much needed projects for the development of her agriculture—there must be not only an improved and wider canal but a readiness on the part of all the oil companies to use it.

Moscow Can't Help

Nasser cannot borrow the money he needs either to modernize the Suez Canal or to build the Aswan Dam. He gives the impression that the Soviet Union will help him. But he knows it will not. Moscow has its opportunity when the Aswan Dam negotiations with the West were broken through for the Russians didn't come through for the simple reason that they haven't the money to carry on economic and financial aid throughout the world.

So Nasser is worried. His outburst to the American editors reveals the truth about his inner anxieties. Whether he is or is not the "victor" today in the Suez Canal controversy is of temporary, if not secondary, importance. It will be more important to size things up a year from now, when the plans being developed to build alternate routes for transporting oil are well under way.

The controversy over shipments through a vital waterway can be settled by economic force—and without a global war. The big victory of today is the victory over the passions of war. And the real task is to keep the victory won.

THE GIFT THAT FULFILLED A 700-YEAR-OLD PROPHECY THE MANOR OF BEMERSYDE WAS PRESENTED BY BRITONS TO FIELD MARSHAL SIR DOUGLAS HAIG FOR HIS SERVICES IN WORLD WAR I IN CONFORMANCE WITH THIS PROPHECY - WRITTEN IN 1241 BY THOMAS THE RHYMER "TYDE TYDE WHAT MAY BETYDE HAIG SHALL BE HAIG OF BEMERSYDE"

Following the First World War, Britons all over the Empire were anxious to reward Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig (1861-1928) for his leadership. An old prophecy dating back nearly 700 years, finally provided them with a solution. The prophecy written by Thomas the Rhymer (1206-1294) reads: "Tyde, Tyde what may betyde; Haig shall be Haig of Bemersyde." In fulfillment of this prediction, the citizens purchased for the Marshal the manor and estate of Bemersyde, in Scotland which was officially presented to him as a gift in 1921.

Have you thought of asking for a raise?

One way of getting a raise is to ask the boss for it. But here's another practical suggestion: ask yourself for it. More people every day are putting their extra money to work to raise their income. Here's what many tell us they are doing:

First: They realize you don't have to be wealthy to own stock—that two out of three shareholders have incomes under $7500 a year. Then they think, "Why can't I do that?" And they decide that maybe they, too, can own stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Second: Acting promptly on this discovery they drop in that very day on a broker in a nearby Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. There they receive a friendly welcome and lots of information. They find out that by using the Monthly Investment Plan they can buy stocks in some of America's most famous companies for as little as $40 every three months—up to $1000 a month. The Plan helps them invest regularly, on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Third: When they buy stock they become part owners of a company. As owners they can share in profits through dividends. And if the company grows the value of their stock can also grow. Or if they buy bonds, they become creditors of the company and, in most kinds of bonds, the company promises to pay interest at a fixed rate and to repay the principal of the bond on a fixed date.

Fourth: Before they invest a nickel they get the facts about the company. They never act on tips or rumors. They know that a company may not grow and they use only money left over after the bills are paid and family emergencies provided for.

Fifth: But they know also that there are some 280 stocks on the Exchange that have paid cash dividends every three months from 20 to 92 years. They've read about them in our free booklet "INVESTMENT FACTS" which not only gives the records of these stocks, but tells many interesting facts about the earning power of stocks, how much it costs to buy and sell, where to go for information and advice on investing.

That's how people all around you are putting their extra money to work to bring income from investments in stocks or bonds on the New York Stock Exchange. If you'd like to learn more about investing, why don't you drop in to see a friendly broker with a nearby Member Firm—or clip the coupon. It costs you nothing.

Army Reserve Training Center Dedicated Sunday

The Second Lieut. Glen Carpenter Training Center for the U. S. Army Reserve, 25 Oakley street, Poughkeepsie, was formally dedicated in ceremonies Sunday afternoon.

The new center, consisting of offices, classrooms, rifle range, supply rooms, etc., was opened to the general public and hundreds of persons toured the new facilities.

The center will serve as the training headquarters for this area.
Lieut. Carpenter, for whom the center is named, was commissioned on the battlefield during World War 2. Member of an infantry unit, he was killed in action behind the German lines on May 8, 1945.

He received the silver star for gallantry in action at that time. He also received during his military career the bronze star medal for valor with oak leaf cluster, the Purple Heart and other citations.

Approximately 500 reserve troops, divided into two companies, were mustered for the review under the command of Lt. Col. Carl E. Hedman, commanding officer of the 854th Engineers Heavy Construction Battalion.

One of the companies was commanded by Lt. Jackie Robinson and the other by Capt. Edward Wardell.

Music for the parade was provided by the Arlington High School band.

Senator Hatfield Speaker

The principal address was delivered by Sen. Ernest I. Hatfield, who discussed the need for a trained, ready, active reserve and called attention to the position of the United States prior to World War 2.

The general order was read by Capt. Wayne Reynolds of Kingston, regular army unit advisor to the center.

The center was turned over to its commanding officer, Lt. Col. James Mayes, by Maj. Gen. Raymond E. Bell, commanding officer of the New York Military District. Col. Mayes, who recently assumed the command, returned not long ago from Formosa where he was an advisor to the Nationalist Chinese armored forces.

There were two displays—one of weapons used by an infantry company in combat, the other of an operating room, general clinic, ward and laboratory setup and field equipment.

The Rev. Forrest R. Prindle, pastor of the Church of the Comforter, Kingston, and chaplain of the 854th, pronounced the invocation.

The center consists of administrative offices, five classrooms—each of which can accommodate at least 200 men—a rifle range for small arms firing, supply rooms, and parking areas.

William Howard Taft is the only former President of the United States to have been interred in Arlington National Cemetery.

Trading Stamps

specific practices of some of the estimated 400 companies which sell stamps to storekeepers and, after housewives have pasted them in little books, provide merchandise "premiums" in exchange.

FTC spokesmen have not divulged the charges, but the commission's bureaus of investigation and litigation are known to have been exploring such questions as these:

Whether the advertising of any of the companies has been misleading or deceptive with respect to the premiums offered.

Whether "unfair" methods of competition have been used—such as giving one store in an area the exclusive right to offer a certain company's stamps.

'Free' Is Questioned

Whether any stamp company, has discriminated, in setting a price on its stamps, between one store and another.

The use of the word "free," in describing the premiums offered, reportedly has been questioned by some officials on grounds that the housewife actually pays for the stamps in the added cost of the groceries and other goods she buys.

More Pay . . .

get increases ranging from $650 to $1,500.

The governor said he would propose legislation next year to correct the pay "inequities." He said he also hoped to complete the work-week reduction.

Harriman offered no legislation of his own on either subject at the 1957 session.

Last year, Harriman and the GOP agreed on a 28½-million-dollar package that included a $300 across-the-board pay increase and a four-hour reduction for institutional workers on 48 or 44-hour weeks.

The new legislation cuts to 42 hours, the work week of the approximately 28,000 employees who were dropped to 44 hours by the 1956 action.

Harriman said no effect had been made to achieve a uniform, 40-hour-week until he became governor, in 1955.

"I am gratified that at long last the Republican leaders have become interested in reducing the work week for our state employees," he continued.

He said that the two-hour cut was "less desirable than the needed four-hour reduction" but that he was approving it as "at least half a step in the right direction."

"I don't like it," he said. He explained, however, that there was "nothing personal" in his questioning of the election on a legal technicality.

Mr. Thayer said he also wanted to consult with Attorney William A. Kelly of Kingston today, Ulster county Democratic leader.

Glusker Wins by 204

In the recent election Mayor Eugene Glusker (D) was re-elected in what was described as a fairly heavy vote, defeating his Republican opponent, Wesley Whittaker, a village merchant, by 864 to 660, a majority of 204 votes.

New York, April 2 (AP)—Two ex-convicts halted their trial yesterday and pleaded guilty to the $97,000 burglary of the Meadow Brook National Bank in Lynbrook, N. Y., last Aug. 6. Each faces a possible maximum of 25 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Rayfield granted a defense motion to dismiss the indictment against Devine's wife, Lorraine, 32, on the ground that the prosecution had failed to link her with any conspiracy to rob the bank.

Texas Vote May Change Makeup Of U. S. Senate

Dallas, April 2 (AP)—Texans were casting their votes in a special election today which will determine the makeup of the U. S. Senate for the next two years.

Reports from over the state indicate a generally light vote. Only in Dallas and Fort Worth and a few other places where municipal elections also are being held was the balloting heavy.

The weather was expected to play an important part in the final tabulation. Thunderstorms were reported in some sections and tornado warnings were posted for a large area of west and north Texas.

Voters had a kaleidoscope of candidates to pick from—19 in all, including an ambitious Republican lawyer from Houston who hopes to even the party count at 48-48 in the Senate.

The winner will fill out the remaining two years of the term of Democratic Price Daniel, who resigned after he was elected governor.

Seventeen Democrats and two Republicans seek the place of interim Senator William A. Blakely (D-Tex.), who was appointed Jan. 15 by Gov. Allan Shivers to serve until a successor to Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.), now governor, could be elected. The term expires in January, 1959. Blakely did not enter the race.

The high man wins the election. There will be no runoff. Polls are open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., (CST).

emergency mobile power plant was pressed into service to supply light for delivery of a baby.

Air traffic also was halted at Cheyenne, in southern Wyoming, as visibility was limited to five-eighths of a mile under a 300-foot ceiling.

Highway 30 Blocked
U. S. Highway 30 was blocked west of Cheyenne and the continued snowfall promised to hamper travel elsewhere in the state.

The storm belt overhung a parched area extending from Montana and the Dakotas southward through Wyoming, Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle.

Livestock men throughout the area were warned to take precautions. Cattle that survived the storm starting March 23 were reported in weakened condition and the new storm posed a serious threat to them.

Upper air soundings showed the storm was bearing moisture at levels up to 20,000 feet and would have a plentiful supply to spread everywhere on its southeastward path from the Rockies.

Severe icing conditions accompanied the storm and some commercial airline flights were canceled.

World News in Brief

Compromise Choice

Buenos Aires, Argentina, April 2 (AP)—Provisional President Pedro Aramburu announced today the appointment of a compromise choice for air minister, but air force officers admitted they had been defeated on their political aims.

Aramburu said Commodore Eduardo Francisco McLoughlin would be sworn in this evening, apparently ending a crisis that had threatened to touch off shooting.

Beck Is Mum

Washington, April 2 (AP)—If Dave Beck, beleaguered Teamsters Union president, got the million dollar publicity fund he wanted to tell his own story in the union's money scandals, he wasn't advertising the fact today.

There were conflicting reports that the Teamsters executive board, meeting secretly here yesterday, (a) had given Beck an okay and (b) had turned down his proposal to spend union money to tell "my story."

Beck maintains he's innocent of Senate racketeering charges he misappropriated at least $320,000 union funds. He invoked the Fifth Amendment before the committee in refusing to answer questions, but has told reporters that while he "borrowed" the money he paid it all back.

Say Premier Quits

Tehran, April 2 (AP)—Official sources said Prime Minister Hussein Ala resigned today in a cabinet shuffle resulting from the murder of three Americans by Iranian bandits.

The sources said Ala, who is 74, will be replaced by Dr. Manouchehr Eghbal, energetic 49-year-old court minister to Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi. Informants said the change would give the government a stronger hand in dealing with banditry and tribal defiance.

Announcement of Ala's resignation is expected tomorrow, after a final meeting with his cabinet, or possibly Thursday. The outgoing prime minister will replace his successor as court minister.

Egypt Will Help

United Nations, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld says Egypt has agreed to help the UN Emergency Force (UNEF) prevent Arab infiltration from the Gaza Strip into Israel.

Hammarskjöld said he received this promise after he notified Cairo that the UN advisory committee on UNEF hoped Egypt would cooperate in stopping raids into Israel. The Egyptian reply said:

Egypt is making known effectively to the refugees and other inhabitants of the strip that it is Egyptian policy to prevent infiltration across the demarcation line, and this will be re-emphasized from time to time as necessary.

Demands Records

Chicago, April 2 (AP)—A police official today demanded financial records of former banker Leon Marcus, which he said were spirited out of Marcus' office shortly after the killing.

Lt. James McMahon, head of the Homicide Bureau, said he had learned that drawers and files of Marcus' Southmoor Securities Co. office had been cleaned out shortly after the Sunday night killing.

McMahon said attempts to question members of the former banker's family had met the same stony wall of secrecy which had cloaked Marcus' dealings in life.

Republicans Call

yesterday that Stone had not exceeded his authority but the parole board member's "standards of judgment and actions" had been such to disqualify him from further service on the board.

After Stone resigned, Harriman demanded that parole board rules be revised to require that all five members act in the disposition of a charge of parole violation.

Smokescreen, They Say
Mahoney and Heck said the suggestion by the Governor was "a smokescreen to cover up an action by one of his own personal appointees."

Chairman Lee Mailler of the parole board, a Dewey appointee, said he would ask Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz to rule on whether Harriman could order the board to change its procedures.

Van Devander said the change could be made within existing procedures.

Mahoney and Heck said they believed the efficiency of the board would be disrupted and long delays in parole cases would result if all five members had to act in each case.

Mailler also has said he would seek a ruling on whether the board could reconsider the Lanza case.

Hunt for Plane
Selinsgrove, Pa., April 2 (AP)—Rain and overcast skies today turned back searchers looking for a private plane presumed down in central Pennsylvania.

Cpl. Earl Moore, state police aeronautics investigator, said search planes could not be sent out until the weather cleared up, probably this afternoon.

Bad weather forced the night flight from Newark, N. J., to Erie, Pa., to turn back eastward and head for the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport last night.

The Civil Aeronautics Communications Center at Selinsgrove had "no further information" on the missing plane at mid-morning and had no information of search planes being dispatched to the scene. The weather was reported foggy in the surrounding area.

Ike Paced Party Candidates by 7 Million Vote

Washington, April 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower ran nearly seven million votes ahead of his party's congressional candidates in last November's election. They in turn trailed their Democratic opponents by 1,134,000 ballots on a nationwide basis.

But in their losing bid for control of the House, GOP candidates polled 2,958,000 more votes than did Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee.

These and other statistics on last year's elections were made public today in an official compilation by the clerk of the House.

In only one state, North Dakota, did Eisenhower trail the combined vote for Republican candidates for the House. However, the two House nominees were running from the state-at-large, not from separate districts, and neither of them received as many votes as did the President. Eisenhower won the state's electoral vote with 156-

766 popular votes, while the two GOP House nominees drew a combined statewide vote of 279,517.

35,581,003 Votes
The President's total popular vote was listed at 35,581,003, or about 57 per cent of the total 62,027,040 cast for all presidential nominees. Stevenson polled 25,758,765 votes, the tally showed. The remainder went to minority party candidates.

Republican House candidates polled 28,697,321 votes, almost 49 per cent of the total, while Democrats were given 29,831,608 as they scored a net gain of two seats to retain control of the House by a margin of 234 to 201 seats.

Recommend Cuts But Not Any Items

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—The Citizens Public Expenditures Survey today urged Congress to cut President Eisenhower's budget by nine billion dollars as a move against inflation.

The taxpayers group said in letters to all members of Congress that if the 1958 budget provided for spending no more than the $64,600,000,000 spent in 1955, the surplus would provide for "a substantial reduction of the nation's debt and a substantial reduction of our taxes."

The letter did not specify which items should be reduced.

Haiti Is Faced With New Strike

Port au Prince, Haiti, April 2 (AP)—The threat of another general strike hung over Haiti today as forces opposing provisional President Franck Sylva tried to topple his regime.

Most of the 10 presidential candidates competing for Sylva's job have been reported maneuvering for a general shutdown, the weapon which has brought down two governments in four months.

Most of Haiti's big stores were closed yesterday, but a number of small shops and restaurants were open. Industry functioned as usual and water, light and power facilities were operating.

Daniel Fignole, presidential candidate spearheading the fight against Sylva, controls most of Haiti's trade unions, but it was not certain how far he was prepared to carry his battle. In a concerted effort, the opposition candidates forced Sylva's provisional cabinet to resign last week and have prevented him from forming another to govern until elections set for April 28.

Would Dredge River

Salamanca, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Salamanca officials are urging the federal government to undertake immediate measures to protect the city from flood of the Allegheny river. About 25 officials and property owners testified yesterday at a public hearing conducted by the U. S. Corps of Engineers. Witnesses pointed out that floods in March last year caused an estimated half million dollars damage. Among proposals they offered were suggestions to dredge the river to a greater depth and to construct dikes in the city. Col. H. E. Sprague, district engineer at the Pittsburgh office, presided at the hearing. J. A. Neill, chief of the engineering section at the Pittsburgh office told the hearing that the proposed Kinzua Dam would have no adverse effects on Salamanca.

School Consolidation Explained

Evolution of Larger School Districts Aid to Education

(Note—This is the tenth in a series of articles on the proposed Greater Kingston Area Consolidation, written by Norman Hammond of Lake Katrine and edited by four others on a committee interested in presenting an explanation about linking rural districts to the city school system.)

GREATER KINGSTON SCHOOL DISTRICT Evolution of Larger School Districts

Our New York State system of education is based firmly on the precept that the school district is the local unit of government for the purpose of operating schools. During the early days of formal education in New York, the school district was the same as the "attendance area." An "attendance area" is that area served by a single school building. There may be several attendance areas within a school district.

The "Common School Law" passed in 1812 was the beginning of formal education in this state. It provided for small districts, each surrounding a one-room school, for the purpose of providing a three-months' term of rudimentary elementary education each year. Since the primary means of getting to school was by walking, and since the amount of learning to be imparted was slight, the Common School District suited the needs of the year 1812 very well. At that time the costs of schooling over and above state aid were met by tuition charges on the parents. Control of these districts was therefore vested in those people whose children were attending school. The State Superintendent of Common Schools in 1844 described the common school districts as having "miserable schoolhouses, poor and cheap teachers, interrupted and temporary instruction."

Common School Obsolete
The changes which have occurred since those days in means of transportation, necessary amounts of education, systems of taxation, etc., have made the concept of the Common School District completely obsolete. In spite of this, almost 1000 Common School Districts still exist, but over half of them do not operate a school.

Union Free School Districts were formed after 1853 so that they could operate secondary schools. The boards of these districts were given corporate powers formerly reserved to district meetings. Consolidation of Common districts to form larger districts has increased the size of attendance areas in many places but has not significantly changed the type of district organization found in the original school districts.

State Aid Helps
Central School Districts were authorized by law in 1914, but they offered little advantage over simple consolidation, and therefore not many were formed. In 1925, the formula which determines the amount of state aid to be distributed to a district was changed to greatly increase the amount of state aid which a Central District receives. Under this impetus many Central Districts were formed, and it was at last possible for our rural areas to support a high school. No centralization can include a city.

Since 1951, school districts in cities of less than 125,000 population have been fiscally independent of the municipalities. This made it possible for these city districts to consolidate with districts outside the city limits. The Enlarged City School District Act of 1952 provided additional state aid for the consolidated districts formed in this way.

Promotes Efficiency

Already over 100 small districts have consolidated with nearby cities, and over 200 more are located where this is possible.

This trend to formation of larger districts has caused new concepts of control and administration to appear. Whereas the attendance areas have increased somewhat in size, the governmental unit, or school district, has greatly increased. This has allowed greater efficiency and better education while still preserving neighborhood elementary schools.

The next article will discuss local control of school affairs as it now is and as it would be under consolidation.

Mid-Week Lenten Services Listed

St. Paul's Church

The fifth in a series of mid-week Lenten services at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 355 Hasbrouck avenue between Foxhall and East Chester street, will be held Wednesday at 7:45 p. m.

"The Attraction of the Cross" is the theme of the message to be given by the pastor, the Rev. Olney E. Cook. The hymns of the service and the selection used for inspiration are taken from the list of "Favorite Hymns."

The choir will sing "Nailed to the Cross" by Grant Colfax Tullar. Part five of the History of the Passion will be read. At the close of the service there will be a moment of quiet meditation. The public is invited to attend these Lenten services. The choir will meet immediately after the service for practice.

First Baptist

The Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, will be the guest speaker during the Lenten fellowship service Thursday, April 4, at First Baptist Church, Albany avenue at Broadway.

According to the Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, pastor, the usual Lenten fellowship dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock with arrangements under the direction of members of Homenakkers No. 2 of the church.

Devotions will be led by Mrs. Otto Weaver and David E. Smith, while Mrs. Harold J. Stephanz will be soloist.

The children's program will be directed by Mrs. Harold Van Allen and Mrs. Robert Marz during which time the film strip, "Chuckie Chipmunk" will be shown.

A cordial invitation is extended to both members and friends of the church to enjoy the fellowship Lenten services.

Clinton Avenue

"Other Little Ships," is the title of the meditation to be presented by the Rev. Dr. Clyde Herbert Snell at the fifth mid-week service at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, 122 Clinton avenue, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

This sermon, presented in the series entitled, "This Has Helped Me," was written by Dr. Donald Sage Mackey. It is based upon the story of the storm at sea which almost engulfed the boat in which the disciples were crossing to the other side. There was not the only boat caught in the tempest. There were "other little ships" out on the sea that night. What the unseen blessings and the unseen comradeships mean to us is the theme of this helpful sermon by Dr. Mackey.

Mrs. Harold Francis, who is in charge of the music at these services, will be at the organ. The special number will be a vocal duet entitled, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," by Nageli. It will be sung by Mrs. Marlin E. Morrette and Mrs. Clarence Dedrick.

The service will be held in the sanctuary of the Clinton Avenue Church and the public is cordially invited.

Trinity Lutheran

On Wednesday, April 3, at 7:30 p. m. the fifth mid-week Lenten service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, will be held. The familiar old Lenten hymns will be sung and Part V of the History of the Passion of our Lord will be read. The pastor, the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, D.D., will preach the fifth of a series of Lenten sermons on the general theme, "New Bridges to the Cross." His topic will be "Were They So Different?"

As has been the custom in the past years, there will be a special quiet time during the general prayer for individual petitions on the part of the congregation. The service will close with a Lenten Litany sung by the senior choir. The following musical program has been arranged by Donald Romne, M.A., minister of music, and Howard Houghtaling, organist:

Prelude, "O Welt, ich muss dich lassen," Sigrid Karg-Elert; solo, "Prayer," David Glunt; Linda Merritt, soloist; postlude. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

The senior choir will hold its regular rehearsal immediately after the church service.

Immanuel Lutheran

This year's series of special mid-week Lenten services will be continued at the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Livingston street Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Martin P. Dienst, pastor, has chosen as his theme for this service the story of the two thieves who were crucified with Christ. He will also read the fifth part of the history of the passion of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

Fay R. Richert will preside at the organ and will direct the choir in a Lenten Chorale. The public is cordially invited to worship with this congregation at this and all other services.

Redeemer Church

The fourth in the current series of Lenten services on the theme, "Great Keystones of the Christian Faith" will be held Wednesday night at Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers streets. The pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, will present a meditation on the subject, "Sanctification—Is the Holy Spirit Real?" The vesper service will include

Governor Clinton Market Reopens April 3

The Governor Clinton Market at 277 Broadway will celebrate its second major expansion program beginning Wednesday and continuing through this week. During the four-day observance free gifts and awards amounting to thousands of dollars will be given. The awards will include food baskets, packages of bacon and other gifts.

The latest addition to the market is the establishment of the meat department in the building formerly occupied by the Hofbrau Restaurant on St. James street. A large meat storage cooler with an elaborate rail system has been set up behind the meat counter. Throughout the entire store, the aisles have been enlarged and an automatic speedy check-up system has been established.

DeGasperis Expands Second Time

Modern Store Will Welcome Visitors, Give-aways Ready

The grand reopening celebration of the Governor Clinton Market, 777 Broadway on Wednesday marks the second major expansion in five years for this locally-owned and operated meat and grocery store, which was established by John DeGasperis, Sr. over 35 years ago.

Free gifts and awards will be featured over a four-day period, starting Wednesday, April 3 and continuing through Saturday, April 6. The public is cordially invited to attend this reopening event.

Up-to-Minute Cooler

The large scale modern improvements include a big meat storage cooler, where all meat will be stored, and an elaborate rail system which will move meat from the cooler to the meat-cutting room. This meat department now is located in that building formerly occupied by the Hofbrau Restaurant on St. James street.

A secondary service cooler has been installed behind the meat counter, a modern innovation which saves considerable time for both clerks and customer. With the completion of the present expansion program, the Governor Clinton Market now operates the largest personal service meat department in the Hudson valley. At the meat counter orders are cut and prepared, right before the customer's eyes.

Aisles Enlarged

Store aisles throughout the store have been enlarged to eliminate bottlenecks and the only automatic speedy check-out system in this area has been installed. Orders will be moved automatically along a conveyor belt for a more efficient check-out operation. More spacious quarters will allow the Governor Clinton Market to carry a complete line of all grocery and meat products. Orders will be delivered to the home for a minimum fee and pay checks will be cashed for added customer convenience.

One thousand six hundred dollars worth of food baskets will be given away during the four-day celebration period and a winner will be announced every 20 minutes of each day, starting tomorrow morning. Over 1,000 lucky people will receive free packages of bacon and others will be awarded gifts at the end of the week. It is expected by the management of the market that this will be one of the largest grand re-opening celebrations in the history of Kingston.

Camp Killmer, N. J., April 2 (AP)—A special conference of the state Hungarian refugee relief committees heard yesterday that all but 1,100 of the Hungarian refugees who fled their homeland are settled in various parts of the country.

In his keynote address, Tracy S. Voorhees, chairman of the President's committee for Hungarian relief, called the resettlement program an "unprecedented effort" and "a tribute to Americans."

Rain Brings Drouth

Franklin, Ky. (AP)—When week-long rains hit Simpson County they left Noble Lanier's livestock faced with a long dry spell. His 1½ acre pond sprang a leak during the downpour and disappeared, the result of a cave-in deep in the soggy underground. All that had remained in the pond, where water had been available for more than 50 years, was 15-feet of mud. Lanier later plugged the leak in hopes future rains might create a new pond—if the bottom doesn't drop out again.

AN AWKWARD SITUATION

A reader explains: "The other evening two women friends stopped at our house and drove my husband and me to the movies. In a telephone conversation with one of these friends earlier in the day she learned that we too intended to go to the picture and so she offered to stop by for us as our car was in the garage being repaired. My husband bought the tickets for all and later these two women insisted that he take the money for their tickets. He refused and we thought the matter closed, but later my husband found the money in his pocket. Weren't they wrong to do this? Should my husband have taken the money?"

In this particular case it is easy to understand that the two outsiders felt they had been forced into an obligation and when they made it plain that they wanted to be allowed to pay their own way, your husband should have taken the money. In fact, the only thing to do in any case when you find yourself out with one who insists to say, "Very well—thank you," and let that end it.

Calling to Thank Hostess
Dear Mrs. Post: Two weeks ago the wife of my husband's employer called me on the telephone to invite us to a large cocktail party she and her husband were giving. I met my husband's employer several times but had never met his wife until the day of the party. When we left, I thanked her for having invited us, but my husband thinks I should have written her a note or called her on the telephone to thank her again, the day after the party. Will you please tell me if he is right?

Answer: Your courteous thanks to her when you left was sufficient.

Should She Rise?
Dear Mrs. Post: When a caller has been asked to be seated while waiting for her hostess, should she rise to greet the hostess when the latter enters the room? Both women are about the same age.

Answer: Yes. Certainly she should.

What size should table napkins be, and how should they be folded? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but you will find the answer to the above question included in leaflet E-32, "Table Linen." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Makarios Rejects Turkey Role in Future Parleys

Mahe, Seychelle Islands, April 2 (AP)—Archbishop Makarios today rejected participation of Cyprus' Turkish minority in negotiations on the future of the Mediterranean island.

The Greek Orthodox archbishop said in an interview he is ready to have rights of the island's Turkish population "internationally safeguarded," but insisted that talks can be held only between him and Britain.

Makarios has already refused to enter negotiations with the British on the future of Cyprus because their offering freed him from internment specified he could not return to his home island. The British have given no indication of relaxing that ban.

Makarios was deported from Cyprus a year ago after Britain accused him of leading the campaign of violence to end British rule and unite the island with Greece. Britain has offered Cyprus a new constitution granting more self-government and has proposed that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization mediate the dispute between Greece, Turkey and Britain.

Cyprus' Turkish minority, about one fifth of the island's population, firmly opposes any move that might make the island a political part of Greece.

Woods Are Combed

Syracuse, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—State police, deputy sheriffs and penitentiary guards were combing a heavily wooded section in nearby Lafayette today for Richard E. Unger, 17, who escaped yesterday from Onondaga county penitentiary. Unger jumped from a first floor office window on a cleaning detail. He had been serving a 30-day sentence for driving without a license. He also faced grand jury action on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. State police said Unger had been seen yesterday afternoon in an outbuilding near his home. However, state police said, he bolted into nearby woods to elude his pursuers.

Hospital authorities said the little girl had had a "good night." The child, who suffered a broken right arm and lacerations of the forehead and right knee, was taken to the hospital about 3 p. m. Sunday where her condition was first reported as critical.

Ellenville state police said the child was walking along the highway when she ran from the south side of the road into the left side of a sedan operated by Leo Flax, 35, of Walden. The impact threw the child to the pavement.

Auckland, New Zealand, April 2 (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden, facing the threat of a recurrence of his old bile duct trouble, decided today to cut short his New Zealand vacation and leave by plane Thursday for medical treatment in Boston. In Fiji they will catch a trans-Pacific airliner for Honolulu and Vancouver.

High Falls Civic Group Initiates Clean-Up Week Plans

High Falls, April 2—A program to improve the appearance of the community was initiated by the High Falls Civic Society Monday night with the proclamation of clean-up week, April 7 to 15.

According to a spokesman of the society, the people of High Falls have always shown a great deal of civic pride in the appearance of the village and it is hoped this year will add greater efforts in the improvement program.

It is expected that everyone will attend to as many of the necessary repairs and other projects such as painting, cleaning up lawns and grounds, the spokesman said.

The campaign will include the posting of signs in various places of business calling attention to the program.

A person on a mountain one mile high can see 96 miles on a clear day.

GOLDEN ROCKET HOLIDAY COUPE

HE: Right! This J-2 Rocket* is really a new driving experience!

FRIEND: Well, I've handled a Rocket Engine before, but nothing like this. They've always had pep, but this one's got that extra pep when you need it!

HE: Don't forget economy.

FRIEND: Yes, but you can't feel economy.

HE: Feels pretty good to the pocketbook.

FRIEND: Right! But it beats me how you get economy with a big car like Olds.

HE: Easy. For cruising around, you just use one dual-barrel carburetor.

*277-h.p. Rocket 1-400 Engine standard on all models. J-2 Rocket Engine, with 300 h.p., and special Rocket Engine, with up to 312 h.p., available at extra cost.

FRIEND: Bet that waters down your performance some.

HE: Not a bit. I've got regular Rocket performance right through the economy range. And believe me, that's plenty. But if you need more power . . .

FRIEND: Then what?

HE: Go to Stage Two. You just saw what that does. Give it three-quarters throttle and you've got three dual carburetors dishing up more power and torque.

FRIEND: Tell me the truth, I've always liked an Olds. Thought we might get one ourselves some day.

HE: Checked the price lately? You'd be surprised how easy it is to own.

Uniformly Slow

Suffolk, Va. (AP)—The six uniform coversalls H. T. Holloman ordered to wear at his filling station arrived in time to fit his son, Billy, who was 7 at the time the order was placed. The package was mailed C.O.D. from Danville, Va., Jan. 3, 1946. Holloman said he didn't mind the 11-year delay. The cost was only about half the present cost of such uniforms and, besides, they fit 17-year-old Billy fine.

TILLSON NEWS

Tillson School Notes

Tillson, April 1—George Fernandez, principal of Tillson School, attended an Adult Education directors conference at New Paltz last month, and various experts and department chiefs from the New York state educational department addressed the group.

Mr. Fernandez announced that the members of the board of education attended a meeting of the Mid-Hudson School Board's Institute on March 20, also at New Paltz. The theme of this meeting was: "Is Our 1957 Curriculum Adequate?" Basic problems are constantly changing, due to such factors as increased population, advanced technological sciences and complexity of world communities. A higher intellectual level of appreciation for the arts, more people living to a greater age and having much leisure time, create problems for which the school feels a great responsibility, speakers there advised.

The members of the local board found the meeting to be very inspiring, and the experience gained from discussing problems with other school boards made the meeting a success.

The annual special sale by the school children has been postponed until Thursday, April 11, and will be held from 2 to 3:30 p. m., and from 7:30 to 8:15 p. m. at the school.

The purpose of this sale is to raise funds for the annual field trip for the children of the school. Contributions are requested and should include books, clothing, ties, hats, housewares and food. More home canned goods, such as jellies, jams, pickles, peaches as well as cakes or baked goods are needed this year. People desiring items to be picked up may contact Mrs. Arthur Deyo, Mrs. Frank Chyzik, Mrs. Christensen or Mrs. Joel Woolsey.

Mr. Fernandez announced that school will be closed at noon Thursday in order that the teachers may attend a supervisory superintendents conference to be held in Highland.

School Groups Go to Market To Learn Nutrition Facts

GOOD NUTRITION is being taught teen-agers at the point of sale in many cities. Above, Pittsburgh youngsters learn.

By GAYNOR MADDOX,

NEA Food and Markets Editor

In cooperation with home economists and local school boards, many markets are helping teach good nutrition to our teen-agers at the point of sale.

A national teen-ager magazine is back of this effort to upgrade youthful eating habits. Los Angeles, Cleveland, St. Paul, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and many other cities are backing the movement.

Calories, proteins and minerals take on vivid reality when a school group goes to market with a home economics teacher. They assemble a balanced meal from the stock and learn about quality and cost.

For an hour or more the super market becomes their classroom where they learn the difference between fresh, frozen and canned fruits and vegetables, about the many packaged cake and biscuit mixes, cuts of meat, use of meat tenderizers for the tougher cuts, etc. Also they learn how to combine enough of the foods on display into a balanced meal within the family budget.

This highly approved course in nutrition includes recipes for easy meals which teen-agers themselves can prepare. These are given to the students in pamphlet form, prepared by the food experts of the magazine.

Here are two examples.

Quick Lemon-Meringue Pie

Crust: Roll 16 graham crackers into crumbs. Blend with ¼ cup softened butter or margarine, ¼ cup sugar. Press into 9-inch pie plate; chill.

Filling: Blend 1 can (14 ounces) sweetened condensed milk, ½ cup lemon juice, grated rind of 1 lemon and 2 beaten egg yolks. Pour into crust. Beat 2 egg whites until they hold peak. Gradually add 4 table-spoons sugar, beating until stiff but not dry. Spread over filling. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 5 to 8 minutes. Cool.

Delectable Steak

Buy a chuck or round steak about ¾-inch thick. Sprinkle meat tenderizer evenly on all sides as you would salt. Use no additional salt. Pierce entire surface of meat with fork. Let stand at room temperature 30 minutes before cooking. Slash edges of fat. Place on hot grill, rubbed with fat, 3 inches from flame. Broil turning only once.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Delectable steak, parsley potatoes, canned peas, ready-mix biscuits butter or margarine, cole slaw, quick lemon-meringue pie, coffee, tea, milk.

St. Paul's Church Announces Special Mission Speaker

The Rev. Lloyd A. Berg, pastor of Calvary Lutheran Church, New York city has accepted the invitation to be the missioner at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Kingston during the Lutheran Evangelism Mission April 28 through May 2, it was announced by the Rev. Olney E. Cook, pastor.

The pastor and 18 lay people of St. Paul's Church met with over 200 lay members and pastors from about 20 Lutheran Churches in the Mid-Hudson Valley at Red Hook recently for the final briefing session in preparation for the Lutheran mission.

Plans got under way for the beginning of the mission as the prayer groups outlined their periods of prayer.

The Rev. Lloyd A. Berg will arrive Saturday, April 27. He is one of the 20 guest missioners who will arrive in the Mid-Hudson valley to begin the series of special services in the Lutheran churches of this area.

Schools Open

Pikeville, Ky. (AP)—If pupils in mountain schools of Pike county become restless about mid-April, 1957, it will be understandable. Traditionally in other years, rural classrooms have closed then, to save the children travel on roads muddied by spring rains and thaws, and to enable them to help with spring farm chores. They returned to school on the nearest Monday to July 20th, while pupils in more urban areas were in the middle of their vacations. Last year, the county board decreed, all schools would open at the same time, in September, and close in late May.

The only way you can be sure of learning the secret of classified ad success is to begin using them now.

'Book' Plays Hard to See

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

The "book" play occurs frequently in textbooks but seldom if ever in actual play.

When it does come up, it takes a mighty good man to recognize and use it.

Take a good look at all the hands. You are West and open the nine of spades against three no-trump. Dummy plays the ten, your partner the jack and declarer the four.

Your partner leads the king of spades and holds that trick also. Now he leads a low spade and declarer wins with the ace. What do you discard?

If you are alert you will get rid of your queen of diamonds. The card is no use to you. It is a cinch that declarer's first play will be a diamond and your queen will have to be played anyway. If declarer has the jack of diamonds your queen has been no good to you; if your partner holds three diamonds to the jack your side will make a diamond trick in any event, but it is most important that your partner make that diamond trick, not you.

Italian team, stayed in this country long enough to play in the recent Vanderbilt Cup tournament. He held the West hand and won a match for his team by remembering to get rid of that queen of diamonds on the third spade lead.

A fairly elementary play when you can look at all 52 cards but a mighty good one when all you can see are your own hand and dummy.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Frank Colosimo, 43, of Fulton, was crushed to death yesterday under 75 tons of earth when the side of an excavation caved in.

He had been working on a sewer extension project. The cave-in buried Colosimo. Fellow workers, aided by firemen, recovered his body about half an hour after the accident.

Pine Plains and Staatsburg Capture Quarter Final Games

Bombardiers Top Van Voorhis 5 In Power Display

It begins to look like a Sickler's Delivery-Pine Plains clash in the finals of the Kingston Basketball Tournament. Just as the schedule makers dreamed it would happen.

George Stutzle's Bombardiers took that long step toward the payoff spot last night with an impressive 107-96 conquest of the powerful Van Voorhis Lumber quintet.

Meanwhile, Staatsburg American Legion had too much size and rebounding power for the DUSO Sales, whipping the collection of DUSO League stars and ex-stars, 89-71, in the preliminary.

Len Sickler's Deliverymen go against Stewart Field in one bracket of Wednesday night's semi-finals, while Staatsburg and Pine Plains are battling it out. On form, Sicklers and the Bombardiers should win. Ergo the dream playoff.

Dwyer Scores 19
With Ted Dwyer, the Columbia University star who holds the tournament record of 58 points relegated to a relatively minor role, Pine Plains withstood an early barrage by Van Voorhis, tied the score at 13-13 and went ahead to stay.

The Bombardiers led 23-20 at the quarter and widened their margin to 53-40 at halftime. A slight rubarb marred the game at the end of the third period when it was alleged a basket was scored by Van Voorhis three seconds after time had run out.

While Dwyer was being limited to 19 points by the relentless hounding of Charlie Johnson, Bob Baldwin took over scoring honors for the Plainsmen with 30 points. Don Holoway rimmed 24 and Phil Spencer had 21.

Harry Parker led Van Voorhis with 27 points. Charlie Capara and Johnson had a 37 points between them and Ropes and Art Kalaka, a strong MVP candidate up to last night, had 16 apiece.

Too Much Size
The boxscore tells the story of the DUSO Staatsburg clash. Mike Tannenbaum, 4 points. Jim Merritt 10 points. Tony Grimaldi 4 points.

Staatsburg was too big, too strong and was too rugged off the backboards for the DUSOs. It was a fair ball game for a quarter, then the Legion size began to assert itself. The Dutchess county aggregation upped its lead to 49-35 at the half and bounced back at a 28-18 edge in the third period.

A DUSO out a losing cause for the Staatsburg was Richie Strong, former KHS star who led the losers with 20 points. Strong played an excellent all-around game and several of his baskets were on the spectacular side. Johnny Lawrence, the Liberty whiz, settled for 10 points, the same as Jim Merritt, the DUSO Player of the Year.

The big men for Staatsburg were Bob Masten and Ken Herrmann with 23 points apiece.

Catching up on the sports heat: A tip of the hat to the newly-crowned champions of the Kingston Bowling Association: the Management trundlers of Electrol; R. Beckwith in the singles, R. Whitaker in the all-events and K. Smith-R. Stephens in the doubles.

The KBA learned a sad lesson in public relations in the tournament. Next year some sort of arrangement should be made to give the secretary assistance in the handling of scores for the press. It might not be a bad idea, either, to get full names, league affiliations and addresses of the divisional winners.

Randy Kelder did a tremendous job as secretary of the tournament, always the unsung hero of the annual tennis fiesta. Quite in contrast to the performance of a top-ranking tournament official who made himself so scarce he couldn't be located by radar.

The Man Has Hopes

Rigney Does Slow Burn As Critics Rap Giants

Las Vegas, Nev., April 2 (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney has been registering a slow burn this spring over insinuations his New York Giants can't improve, or even hold, their sixth-place National League finish of 1956.

Rigney, starting his second season at the Giant helm, is convinced that the Giants will have more to offer than just heralded Willie Mays, 20-game winner Johnny Antonelli, reliable Red Schoendienst and consistent Don Mueller.

"Except for a few pitchers who haven't come along as rapidly as we'd like, our Arizona training season was very encouraging," said the man who replaced Lippy Durocher.

"We got fine promise from rookie Andre Rodgers at shortstop, Gail Harris at first base, and Whitey Lockman, back from the Cardinals," continued Rigney. "Lockman could do the job for us at first base or left field."

A Fine Fielder
Rodgers, 22-year-old ex-cricketer player from the Bahamas, was a standout of the Giants' Phoenix spring stand. He may be the starting shortstop, if for no other reason than he has amazed veteran observers with his fielding skill.

Harris has been a spring wonder for several years. If he can finally spear the first base job, Lockman and equally versatile Foster Castleman can concentrate elsewhere.

Castleman, a .226 hitter last year, came to life in the late stages of the exhibition season and could take over at third base where Ossie Virgil, a .265 performer for Minneapolis in 1956, has been trying to catch on.

The Giants have only one established catcher, Wes Westrum, who figured to be No. 2 receiver until Bill Sarni was stricken by a heart attack at the start of spring practice. The Giants are shopping for another catcher, with rookie Bob Schmidt the chief standby.

Hank Sauer, 38-year-old slugger obtained from the Cardinals, or Lockman, will be in left field with Mueller and Dusty Rhodes or Hank Thompson in right on the other side of superb center fielder Mays. Thompson also could wind up at his old third base spot.

Daryl Spencer, standing by at shortstop during the stirring trial of rangy Rodgers, is capable of playing second or third, thus enhancing Rigney's respectable ability to deploy his men.

On his pitching staff, Rigney has a lot of names beyond southpaw Antonelli, who had a 20-13 record last year. Giant success well may rise or fall upon such potential starters as Al Worthington, Ruben Gomez, Dick Littlefield, Sam Surkont, Mike Margoneri or Steve Ridzik.

Of Men and Mice:
In checking the back copies, we noted that the DUSO League athletic directors and coaches couldn't improve on the DUSO Sportswriters' picks, albeit they honored Port's Alex Osowick with the Player-of-the-Year designation. . . . A post-season commendation for Coach Buddy Smith of Saugerties High for his splendid two-year record will be stepped up some next year against the Dutchess county schools but don't sell short the former Queens-Iona Relays at New York City on April 20. . . . Both were members of Cobleskill Aggies' championship cross country team last fall. . . . Jimmy Demaret and Jackie Burke of the Grossinger Country Club professional staff are heading a syndicate that plans an 18-hole golf course at Sarasota, Fla. It is expected to be the swankiest in the south.

Geisel Winner Of Foul Shoot
Billy Geisel won the foul shooting contest staged by the fourth and fifth graders of St. Mary's School with eight conversions in ten attempts.

Second place went to Paul Richers with six of ten. Other winners were Phil Kelly, Bobby Cunningham, Bobby Tubby and Jimmy Murphy.

Coaches Frank Cavano and Joe Spada voted Victor Oleschuk and Bobby Finley as the most improved players of the season. High scorers for the league were Henry, 84, Blues; Weihaupt, 80, Reds; Bruce Ackert, 60, Reds; and Conlin, 57, Greens.

Medals were awarded to the four shoot winners, most improved players of the season and to the league champions which included Weihaupt, Geisel, Mike Lawlor, Richie Reno, Mark Berry, Marshal Suski and Terry Burns.

Gold's Capture St. Mary League
The Golds, captained by Johnny Weihaupt, won the intramural basketball title involving fourth and fifth graders of St. Mary's School with a record of 10 wins and 2 losses.

Captain Johnny Rylewicz's Reds won 8 and lost 5 for second place. Billy Henry, CYO upstate foul shooting champion, led his Blue team with seven fouls to a 2-point victory over Johnny Conlin's Greens to settle for a tie for third game.

Terrible Ted's Tantrums

Williams Refuses to Budge From Stand on ... 'Everything'

Sarasota, Fla., April 2 (AP)—Tactless Ted Williams, baseball's best bitter and worst diplomat, followed up his blast at the Marine Corps, the late Sen. Robert A. Taft and "all those other phony politicians" today with a slap at the United States government for its treatment of Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

"Look at the terrible treatment Joe Louis is getting," he said. "Here's a guy who has been a credit to his race and his country and look at the treatment he's getting. I think it's a shame the way he's being hounded for the payment of his back income taxes."

"He'll never be able to pay all that money he owes the government. He's stuck for life. The interest keeps climbing every day and there isn't a damn thing he can do about it."

"Why doesn't the government make some sort of a settlement with him? Or better yet wipe out the entire debt. If some big shot, phony politician was in the same predicament, they'd allow him to settle it by paying two cents on the dollar . . ."

Earlier Williams was quoted by Crozet Duplantir, executive sports editor of the New Orleans States, blasting the Marine Corps, the late Senator Taft of Ohio, former President Harry S. Truman and the entire U. S. government.

Blowup at Airport
Williams, caustic criticism took place in a New Orleans airport while the Red Sox were awaiting a plane.

He reaffirmed he had told the New Orleans newsmen he had no use for the Marine Corps, and that he had referred to Sen. Taft as a "phony politician."

He denied criticizing Mr. Truman and the government.

"Sure I said I had no use for the Marine" the 38-year-old former marine captain said. "I felt that way when they called me back into the service for the second time in 1952 and that's the way I feel now. I resented the way they singled me out because I was in the public eye. I'd had no squawk if they had called back every reserve officer in the same category."

Why He Returned
"I'll tell you why they called a lot of us back. They wanted an appropriation of $450,000 from the government for airplanes and they needed pilots to fly them. So they recalled 1,100 pilots who hadn't flown planes for 11 years."

"As for Taft, I used to think he was a wonderful man. I used to have a lot of respect for him and I admired him for the stand he took on labor (Taft-Hartley Law) but I found out he was no different than the other phony politicians."

"A friend of mine, without my knowledge, went to see him about getting my release. Taft told him if it were anybody else he would help him, but he couldn't touch me. I was too big. I never asked for any special treatment, but that's a heck of a way to operate."

Williams insisted he made no specific reference to Truman or to any one else in the government.

In the Sprina, Baseball Can Be Looked At Several Ways

WORRY: For Granny Hamner, his only chance to stay in the big leagues is to make the jump from shortstop to pitcher for the Phillies. He has problems and they're big ones.

WORK: For Willard Schmidt, the job of pitching is no task. He bears down to impress Cardinal bosses at St. Petersburg that he can be a big winner. He needs it.

PROBLEM: For Casey Stengel, it's the time when he tries to figure out where all that surplus Yankee talent can be placed. Either that, or how to spend World Series cash.

EAGER: For Tony Kubek, it's the time when every move must be made book-perfect—if a kid in his shoes wants to step up from the minors to the awesome Yankees.

LARK: For Mickey Mantle, a new season is a chance for new records. The big Yankee, he waits for the season to start—and the money to roll in. Especially if he hits 60.

Poughkeepsie Elks Decide To Remain in NY-NJ League

Garver's Shutout Stint Brightens A's Mound Hopes

By ED. WILKS
The Associated Press

Maybe all Ned Garver needed was a pat on the back.

The sorearmed, kidfaced right-hander has been a bit disappointing this spring to the Kansas City Athletics, who picked him up in that seven-player deal with the Detroit Tigers last December. In 10 exhibition innings, Garver had been tagged for 14 hits and 17 runs. He had walked eight.

Then yesterday, Manager Lou Bourdeau got around to naming a six-man starting-pitcher list, and Garver was on it. So what happens? The 31-year-old veteran worked the first six innings of a "doubleheader" with Pittsburgh—an 18-inning scoreless tie—and walked only one while allowing but three hits.

It was the only exhibition game played. All the others were rained out.

The A's got 11 hits—all singles—off Ron Kline, Bob Purkey and Vern Law in the longest game of the spring. The Pirates managed only seven hits.

Giants Promote Rodgers

The game was called to enable the Pirates to get on their 3-hour bus ride back to Fort Myers from West Palm Beach.

While the A's and Pirates were battling for "ought," the other clubs did some signing and some paring.

The New York Giants moved shortstop Andre Rogers and Utility man Bobby Hoffman to the varsity roster with Manager Bill Rigney terming Rogers "my shortstop."

The Detroit Tigers optioned pitcher Max Simmons to Augusta of the Sally League, while Manager Jack Tighe announced former Dodger pitcher Pete Wojew and veteran outfielder Mel Clark will stick with the club.

Brooklyn shipped second baseman George Anderson and pitcher Bill George to Los Angeles.

Pittsburgh sent pitchers Benjie Daniels, Fred Waters and George Witt to Hollywood.

The Chicago Cubs closed up their spring home at Mesa, Ariz., to start the long way home with 31 players on the roster. The Baltimore Orioles locked up at Scottsdale, Ariz., shipping shortstop Gary Walker and pitcher Ron Mueller to San Antonio.

Poughkeepsie Elks were back in the New York-New Jersey League fold today, following a 24-hour walkout in protest against Riverview Field rental charges proposed by the city of Poughkeepsie.

The Elks announced their formal withdrawal from the league at Sunday's meeting in the Bridge City, but upon the urging of the league officials agreed to "reconsider" the move over a three-day period.

The crux of the situation was the announcement of the Poughkeepsie City Recreation that it would charge $50 a night for the 10 home games to be played at Riverview field. The Elks countered with an offer to pay $25 a night, contending they could afford no more.

In previous years, the Riverview field was available to the Elks rent free.

Will Pay Fees

At a hastily called meeting last night, business manager John Babiarz, who also is the league's secretary-treasurer, said the Elks decided to meet the rental fee of $50.00.

Babiarz said he had received the assurance of financial support from industrial and fraternal groups. Ed Terpening, a member of the club's board of directors, was named chairman of a finance campaign to raise funds to meet the additional expense.

Beacon and Staatsburg teams joined the circuit Sunday, boosting the total to ten franchises, highest in the league's history.

Besides the Kingston Colonials and the Saugerties Dutchmen, the league includes the Poughkeepsie Elks, Brooklyn Windsores, Newburgh Dodger Jewels, New York Bullets, Nyack Welders, Spring Valley.

Much of the weekend session was devoted to planning the 1957 schedule. The league is slated to open the season on May 11.

Ruby, Glasco A's Take Saugerties Dart Leadership

Ruby and Glasco A's share the lead in the Saugerties Dartball League following their winning efforts in Monday night's games. Ruby defeated Cementon 2 to 1, and Glasco A's blanked the Centerville firemen. West Camp held the lead by a margin of five percentage points for the past two weeks, lost two games to 13th place Cedar Grove and dropped into third place.

Other scores: Service Center A's 1, Trinity 2; Veteran 1, Service Center B's 2; Mt. Marion 1, Centerville 2 and Glasco AC 2, Katsbaan 1. Quarryville was not scheduled.

Pancho, Kramer Differ on Fine Print in Pact

Toronto, April 2 (AP)—Champion Pancho Gonzales can quit Jack Kramer's professional tennis tour any time he wants.

The big Californian said here last night, after winning his 29th match against Australian Ken Rosewall, "I have no contract worries. . . . The contract I had with Kramer last year had an option clause.

"He was supposed to inform me if he was going to pick it up. He didn't so it can't be valid in court."

In Los Angeles, told of Gonzales' announcement Monday that he will quit the tour May 26 to allow a cyst on his hand to heal, Kramer thought otherwise.

"Gonzales is not the one to say when and where he will quit the tour, and he can look at the contract I have with him, written largely by his own attorney and discover the fact."

A Different View

Gonzales said he doesn't intend to quit the tour, but he does want a rest. "I've been playing continuously for 18 months. I've been playing with a cyst on my racket hand and I want to give it time to heal. . . . I have three children that I seldom see. I'm just tired and fed up with the strain of it."

Kramer said he was "fed up" with Gonzales "popping off."

Gonzales he said, owes an obligation to everyone connected with the tour and he "certainly wouldn't be making the money he is without them."

Gonzales appeared to be neither tired nor hampered by the cyst last night as he outlasted the diminutive Rosewall in a marathon first set that continued for more than two hours to win 22-20, then polished him off 6-4 in the second. Rosewall has won 12 of the contests.

Hockey Results

Sabers defeated the Jets, 5-3; Thunderbolts won over Flying Saucers, 1-0; and Flying Tigers tripped the Sky Rockets, 2-1, in the YMCA prep hockey league.

In the Cadet Junior floor hockey matches, Rangers beat the Red Wings, 5-0, and Royals topped the Indians, 3-2.

Worker Crushed to Death

Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—William C. Simon, 47, of (258 W. Post Road) White Plains, was crushed to death yesterday while repairing an elevator at the Geigy Chemical Co. plant at nearby Greenburgh.

Simon, a maintenance man at the plant, was working on the top of the lift when it suddenly was set in motion. He was crushed between the top of the lift and the top of the shaft. Police broke through a wall, but he was dead when they reached him.

German Heavy Upsets Baker

New York, April 2 (AP)—Willi Besmanoff, who came here from Germany five months ago without any fanfare, today appeared headed for a berth on the heavyweight division's elite top ten.

The 5-10½, 194½ pound Berliner gained tremendous stature last night by whacking out a close but unanimous 10-round decision over strapping Bob Baker of Pittsburgh in a telecast thriller at St. Nicholas Arena. Big Bob is 6-2 and weighed 214½. More important to Besmanoff, 24, is that Baker, once the leading contender to Marciano, still is ranked fifth by the NBA and ninth by Ring Magazine.

That should mean a promotion soon for Willi. He was the sixth ranking light-weight until he came here and filled out to heavyweight size.

Besmanoff, was awarded the verdict on identical 5-4-1 cards by the three officials—Referee Al Berl and Judges Bert Grant and Nat Cooper.

REIGNING CAT AND DOGS—In Augsburg, Germany, the lion lies down with the Boxer—and a whole family of Boxers, at that. The big cat, "Negus," was a gift to the Willy Hagenbeck Circus from Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia. Ever since it arrived it has been a close friend of "Daisy," the Boxer. When the dog's pups arrived the lion assumed a friendly "big brother" role.

POINTLESS POINT—While Dr. Frank Bachelor, a Salina, Kan., foot specialist, was walking Taffy, his pet Weimaraner, one night recently, the dog came to a rigid point. Dr. Bachelor looked for the cause and found it in the window of a store they were passing. The dog's "quarry" was a stuffed pheasant in a window display.

The Rev. John E. Swords, pastor of Modena and Clintondale Methodist Churches, dean and chairman of the school, reports enrollment of 74 teachers, teachers-to-be, superintendents of church schools and members of commissions on education.

Lawyer Is Charged With Documents Theft

New York, April 2 (AP)—A Long Island lawyer is charged with the theft of documents allegedly involving him in unethical practices.

Police said Joseph Paige, 39, of (2147 Valentine Rd.) Westbury, N. Y., arranged for the theft from a former client's safe. Paige and four other men were charged yesterday with grand larceny, robbery and second degree assault.

Herman Mink, 62, owner of the Long Island Scrap Metal Co. of (105-19 53rd Ave.) Queens, filed a complaint with the New York State Bar Assn. last summer charging Paige with unethical practices, police said.

Paige, police said, hired Anthony Spizzetti, 23, of (91-08 Sutter Blvd.) Ozone Park, Queens, to obtain the documents Oct. 19. The papers included a fictitious mortgage allegedly sold to Mink for $6,500.

Others charged with taking part: Frank Di Vergilio, 26, of (209 Woodward Ave.) Oceanside, N. Y.; James Burke, 25, of (130-51 115th St.) Ozone Park, Queens; Frank Martinez, 25, of (223 Congress St.) Brooklyn; and Robert Wolf, 24, of (84-43 64th Rd.) Rego Park, Queens. Wolf was arrested subsequently for another crime and is now in Sing Sing Prison.

Health Teacher Is For Garden Cuts, More Play Areas

Washington, April 2 (AP)—A health education teacher favors more play equipment and fewer formal gardens in backyards in the interest of promoting physical fitness in youth.

"When parents accept their responsibility for . . . activities that emphasize physical activities as well as they now accept their responsibilities for the medical supervision of children, we will be well on the road toward solving the problem," Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead said last night. She is a professor of health education at the University of Oregon and vice president of the Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Speaking at a symposium on "Fitness of American Youth—Whose Responsibility?" at the spring meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP), she said: "Instead of all green grass and formal gardens, I would advocate more home space devoted to jungle gyms, badminton courts and other play equipment. Basements could well be equipped with ping pong tables, punching bags, bar bells, chin-up bars and swinging rings."

Defendant Accuses Lawyer, Asks Probe

New York, April 2 (AP)—A defendant accused his own lawyer of misconduct yesterday and won immediate court action to investigate the charge.

Officers in the Court of Special Sessions said it was the first such case in their memory.

Leonard Winarsky, 31, of Brooklyn told the court he wanted to plead guilty to a charge of unlawful possession of narcotics. But first he said he wanted to say something about his attorney, Leonard I. Freedman, of (257 Clinton avenue) New Rochelle, N. Y.

Winarsky said he had wanted to plead guilty but the attorney advised him not to, saying he was "connected in this court."

Winarsky also alleged that Freedman had taken money from his girl friend, made the defendant sign money over to him and told him he would get him out of jail on bail.

The three justices hearing the case interrupted the session to order the district attorney's office to investigate the charges.

Winarsky's guilty plea was accepted and sentencing set for April 15.

Freedman said he wanted an immediate hearing so he could clear himself of the allegations.

Four Dead, Many Hurt In Philippines Fire

Manila, April 2 (AP)—At least four persons were reported dead, several missing and many injured today after a fire that raged for eight hours through Catbalogan, capital of Samar province.

The Philippine News Service reported the flames wiped out 80 per cent of the business and residential areas and left 20,000 of the 27,000 population homeless.

Samar Gov. Fernando Veloso called President Carlos P. Garcia asking that he declare a state of calamity in the province. He estimated damage at 10 million dollars and appealed for an immediate airlift of food and clothing.

Central to Aid Industries Hurt By O & W Closing

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—The New York Central Railroad will provide special switching service to some industries hampered by the closing of the New York, Ontario and Western line, it was announced today.

A Central official said the facility would be granted, on request, only in communities where the Central row serves.

"We're not running over considerable distances on the O & W tracks," the official said.

He said requests already had been made from industries in Rome and Oneida. He understood other bids were in the offing from Fulton and Oswego.

The official said he understood the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad was ready to give service in Utica and other points on its line.

The railroads already have permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to provide the switching facilities.

The bankrupt O & W, a freight line, ceased operations last Saturday night under federal court order.

The line extended 554 miles, covering 10 New York counties, from Oswego to Weehawken, N. J., with a spur to Scranton, Pa.

Party Counsel Dies

New York, April 2 (AP)—William J. O'Shea, 58, counsel to the Democratic State Committee for 25 years and a member of the city board of education, died yesterday of a heart attack. He was stricken at his office in the law firm of Saxe, Bacon, O'Shea and Bryan, where he was senior partner. Born in Brooklyn, O'Shea joined the law firm in 1926. He also taught for several years at Fordham University Law School.

No Progress Is Seen In Goodrich Strike

Cincinnati, April 2 (AP)—A strike of B. F. Goodrich Co. workers in nine plants swung into the second day today after negotiators reported no progress on a new contract.

A new bargaining session is planned today, and a company spokesman said a regular schedule of conferences probably will continue through early days of the walkout.

About 14,000 workers are affected by the strike that started shortly after midnight Sunday.

Neither the union nor management here has disclosed the issues that deadlock the talks. But a union spokesman at Akron last night said 18 points are still unsettled. He declined to list them.
